

Ian Dove, Business Development Manager, Healthcall and County Durham and Darlington NHS Foundation Trust

Since joining the NHS in 2008 Ian has been heavily involved in service transformation and redesign bringing change management leadership experience from a number of private sector companies such as AXA and RAC.

He has been pivotal in the establishment of the Healthcall partnership and is currently digital lead for the Darlington Healthy New Town's programme, bringing health into the built and natural environment.

As Business Development Manager for County Durham and Darlington Foundation Trust, he is also responsible for the development and protection of the Trust's intellectual property.

