

Great North Care Record: What's included?

Introduction

Great North Care Record is a shared health and social care record in the North East and North Cumbria region. Across the region different organisations share a different set of information. This is due to various factors including:

- The digital maturity of the organisation
- The type of record system they use
- Internal information governance considerations
- Internal clinical safety considerations
- National record sharing guidelines

Other key things to note:

- If the patient's DOB and NHS number do not match some data may not be available
- Access to the GNCR data will not be possible if the patient has opted out of sharing data to GNCR
- Some sensitive data is not shared to GNCR including: sexual health, gender reassignment and fertility

This guide is intended to give an overview of the items being shared. Within each organisation the full data set is complex and may have exclusions applied. If you require a more detailed breakdown, please contact the GNCR team on nuth.gncr@nhs.net.

For some organisations, data is returned in structured pieces and is split up into the various dedicated widgets in the record. For other organisations data is returned in a single report and will display in one widget in the record. The location of the data for each organisation is also indicated in this guide.

If the information is not available do not assume it does not exist, follow your usual processes to request from the organisation directly.
